3. (A) Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions given below:- 1×5=5

Thomas Edison was an American scientist. As a little boy he used to sell newspapers on the American Railway and between the arrival and departure of trains. He would nearly always be found in the telegraph office watching the operations of work. One day he saw the station master's little boy in danger of being run over, jumping forward he saved the child and in return for this service the station master taught Edison all about telegraphy. The young man spent many hours in research. He was only twenty years old when he invented gramophone. When he was busy in his experiments for electric bulbs people considered him to be mad. But when they learned that he was right, they gladly welcomed this new illumination.
